

CVU ANNOUNCEMENTS
Tuesday, February 12, 2019
Red Day

Birthdays: Jesse Campbell, Jackson Guernsey, Ivy Miller, Boaz Pike, Zoe Prue, Benedicte Yodishembo

Menu: Home style meatloaf w/baked potato & green peas
Roasted root vegetable stew w/a biscuit

Activities: Boys V&JV Basketball at BHS 5:00/6:30

NEWS:

- LOST & FOUND – if you’ve lost anything, check out the table in the Main Office. Lots of jewelry, sneakers, hoodies, etc. Will go up for grabs next week.
- Junior and Senior lot parkers – don’t forget to tell Debbie in the Main Office if you drive a car without a sticker. You need to show your registration and record your car for the day. You may be fined or booted if we don’t know whose car it is. You can also get another sticker if it’s a car you will be driving frequently.
- Food impacts more than your health. It impacts the environment, animals and people. What you eat, where it comes from, and how it was produced contributes to your FoodPrint -- think of it like a carbon footprint, but for food. We here at EnACT want you to try going completely vegetarian, just for one meal a week. We have developed a meatless Monday pledge for you to sign, if you are interested. See your adviser or head to the library to get a pledge. Want to hear more? Join us at EnACT at 7:45 on Wednesdays in room 206.

DIRECTION CENTER:

- Seniors: A reminder that the Red Sox Scholarship closes Friday, February 15th. You can apply through the following link: <http://www.redsoxfoundation.org/servicescholarships/#Application> or through Naviance. If you do apply, please make sure that you forward the email link that you receive to your counselor so that she can upload your transcript and letters of recommendation.
- Attention All Students: The Med Mentors at the UVM Larner College of Medicine wish to extend an invitation to their Health Career Exploration Day on Saturday, 3/16 from 8:30am to 3:30pm for students wishing to learn more about the healthcare field as a whole. The event would involve breakfast and registration, rotating through various stations where students will participate in activities and learning, lunch, and activities in the pathology lab, ultrasound lab, and standardized patient rooms. If you are interested in attending, please RSVP Phuong.Tran@med.uvm.edu by Friday, 3/1.

WORD OF THE DAY: BARDOLATER

A person who idolizes Shakespeare

Archived Announcements

George Bernard Shaw once described a William Shakespeare play as "stagy trash." Another time, Shaw said he'd like to dig Shakespeare from the grave and throw stones at him. Shaw could be equally scathing toward Shakespeare's adoring fans. He called them "foolish Bardolaters," wrote of "Bardolatrous" ignoramuses, and called blind Shakespeare worship "Bardolatry." Oddly enough, Shaw didn't despise Shakespeare or his work (on the contrary, he was, by his own admission, an admirer), but he disdained those who placed the man beyond reproach. The word bardolater, which Shaw coined by blending Shakespeare's epithet—"the Bard"—with an affix that calls to mind idolater, has stuck with us to this day, though it has lost some of its original critical sting.

Merriam Webster